-Aims and Objectives

The initial goal was to create a website which will first of all help people and will be useful. It was decided to write a code for moving service company that provides different relocation services around Kazakhstan. The idea of the project is to create a website for such a moving service and possibly with further development of the project. The project began with the study of material about how to create a good website in general, how to connect it with database, and so on. Furthermore, information was studied not only about the programming languages in which we will work, but also about the abroad moving companies in order to understand the concept.

-Background

Currently owning a house is a big deal because basically it is the fortress of a family. Well furnished, big houses are a dream of every person. Furthermore it would be great if all goods were new and unbroken. Importance of transportation services in infrastructure development can be concatenated this way. Initially people work hard and save money for buying a new house which will be wider and fresher than the previous one. As a matter of fact that it is impossible to pack and transport all goods alone, here comes moving services to help out.

Process of moving can be tense and affective. The furniture which have been purchased for living room and bedroom, the household appliances as refrigerator and microwave, the beautiful china and glassware from wedding, favorite shoes and jeans, even the small souvenirs that have been collected in travels all need to be wrapped, packed, sealed, marked and loaded onto one or two moving trucks. Regardless of whether a person is a minimalist or has a hard time throwing things away, it takes time, patience and care to pack all the belongings carefully and safely, so all precious memories remain intact ("Moving Tips: The Right Way to Pack your Belongings", 2020).

Planning big-size relocation could be difficult. With so many moving parts and goods to connect, it may be suppressing. A small-size relocation can have its own issues as well. Regardless of a relocation size, moving all goods to the new house alone can risk damage to belongings in transportation, besides, it would be exhausting work ("Why Hire a Moving Company | Atlantic Relocation Systems", 2020).

The in-home estimate should be done by the movers. During this stage a representative from the moving company assessing home to determine the pricing of the move which is based on the volume of goods ("Things to do Before Moving | Moving Checklist | Professional Full Service Movers & Packers", 2020).

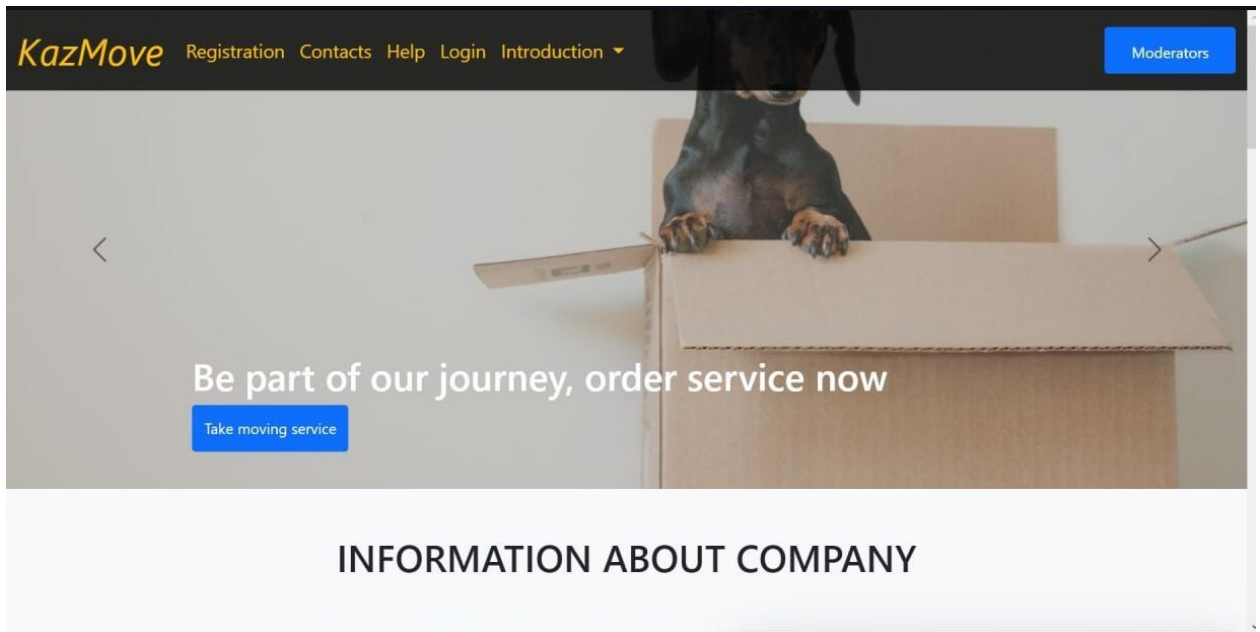

A moving company is a business that helps individuals and corporations move their products from one location to another. It provides all-inclusive relocation services such as packing, loading, moving, unloading, unpacking, organizing things to be transported. People can ask for additional services as well. Cleaning services for homes, offices or warehousing facilities can provide additional services.

However, there are no such companies in Kazakhstan, or there are, but not known. Therefore, it was decided to make a website for such company to make our work easier. It's an important project, because it helps people to get their goods to the new house without any problems. Basically, Moving Service provides services of moving from one apartment to another.

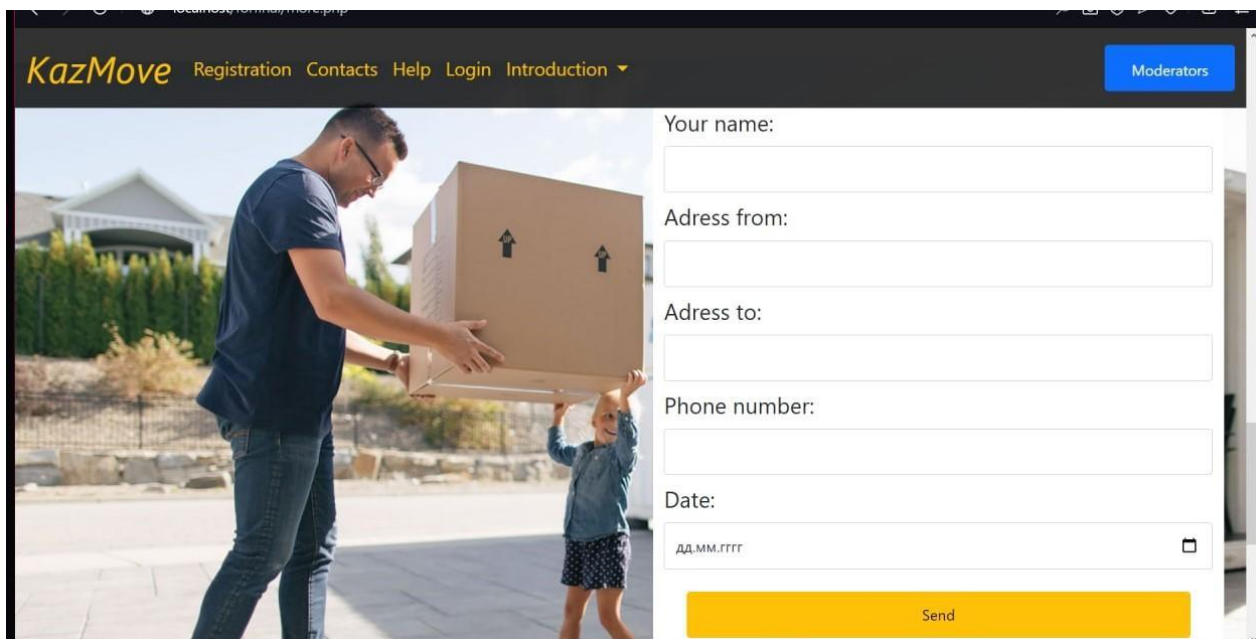

-Methodology

At the beginning it was decided to create general base of the website using bootstrap. Also we observed some data about concept of the project by the help of internet, books and recordings of video lessons.

Next the work on front-end of the website has begun. We come up with names and labels of buttons of the website like: registration, help, login etc. 4 web screens were written, that is: home, privacy policy, contact, help pages.

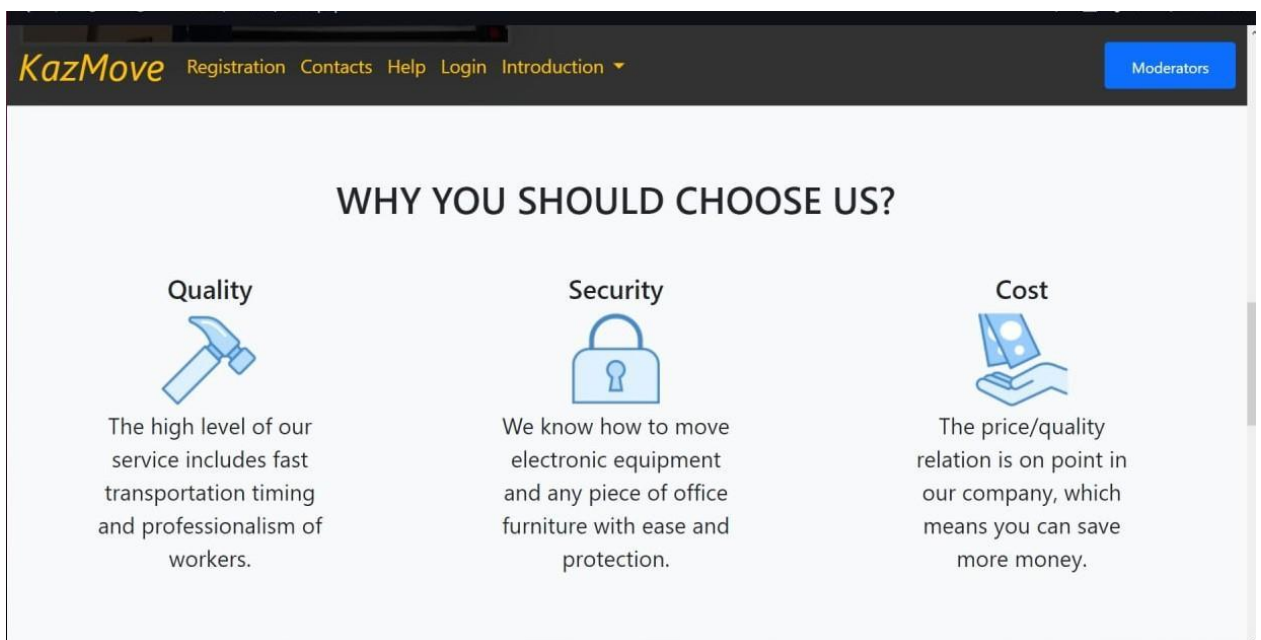

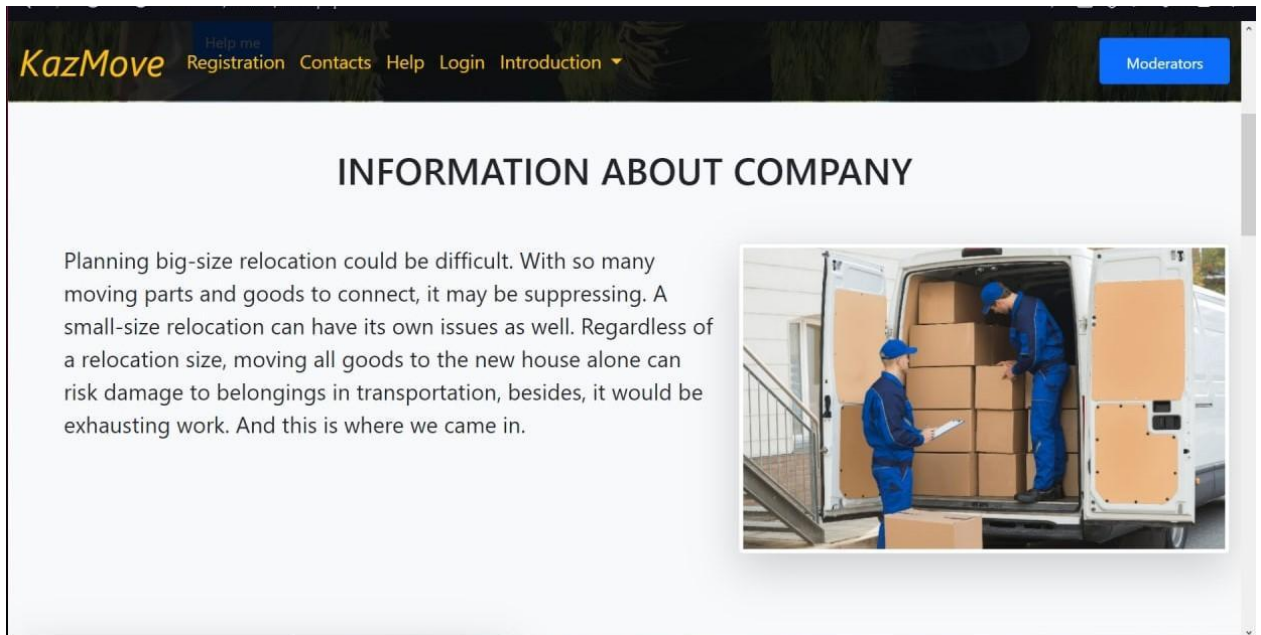

The home page has general form for customers who want to send request including all information about moving to a very details, for example: name, address-from, address-to, date of the moving etc.

Privacy policy has text about rules of the company's views on customers' privacy.

We added different buttons as carousel, dropdown list and different pictures and information about our company.

At the help section customer can tell us his problem about the order.

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar of the KazMove website with links for Registration, Contacts, Help, Login, and Introduction. A blue button labeled 'Moderators' is in the top right. Below the navigation bar, a heading reads 'Please if you have any questions fill the form below:'. The form contains four input fields: 'Name', 'Phone number', 'Email address', and 'Describe your problem'. A yellow 'Send form' button is at the bottom of the form area.

-Conclusion

The goal was achieved, the website was created. As a result, it was obtained a ready-made website that does a good job of its task. This project will open up new business ideas. But it requires a lot of change and improvement. For example, it will be possible to take this website as a basis and make a new project for the transportation of rare and expensive minerals by train between cities or even countries or you can think of something more global. For all these purposes there will be one foundation and this is our website.

During the creation of the project many things were learned. Because of not knowing how to write in OOP, it was problematic in the beginning. However, after learning new skills were obtained. This project taught how to make website correctly and in general how to do project research in a right way.

-Appendix

Nowadays there is a great deal to consider when it comes to determining logistics and your moving budget, and that's true when you hire a professional moving company. It is crucial to gather as much data as possible (Mueller, 2020).

It can be very comfortable, renting a moving company. Since it has proficiency and preparation to guarantee that all logistical concerns will be met with maximum commodity ("Moving Companies 101: How Many Movers Should I Hire?", 2020).

U.S. according to Over the past decade, 40 million United States people have migrated annually to the Census Bureau. Of those who have relocated to the U.S., 84.5% have moved to their own state, 12.5% have moved to another state, and 2.3% have moved to another country (American Moving & Storage Association, May 9, 2015).

The moving process also requires the discovery or procurement of materials such as boxes, paper, tape, and bubble wrap to pack boxes and secure delicate household items and consolidate the transport and stacking on the moving day.

The cost of long-distance transfers in the U.S. and Canada is normally determined by the weight of the objects to be transported, the distance, how fast the items should be moved, and the time of year or month that the move takes place. In the United Kingdom and Australia, rather than their weight, the price is dependent on the volume of the products. Flat rate pricing could be provided by some movers (Stellin, S. New York Times, December 7, 2008).
